The constitution of the Andover chapter, No. 187, Order of the Eastern Star, was held Wednesday evening with a large attendance of local members and an almost equal number of visiting members from different parts of the state.

The ceremonies commenced at half past five with a special business meeting held in Masonic hall, followed by a reception to the grand officers.

At 6:30 adjournment was made to the town hall where a fine banquet was served by Alfred P. Weigel of Lawrence. The menu consisted of grapefruit cocktail, tomato bisque, pineapple fritters, scalloped and mashed potatoes, fricasseed chicken, green peas, celery, olives, Waldorf salad, fancy ices, cake, and coffee.

Hon. John Jacob Rogers Addresses First Legion Meeting Held in New Rooms in Barnard Block

"The American Legion is the only organization which can successfully combat the poison which is being spread broadcast for an almost total abolition of the army and navy," declared Congressman John Jacob Rogers of Lowell, Tuesday at the opening of the new quarters of Andover post No. 8, American Legion. "America menaced by militarism is the propaganda preached everywhere as the result of a pamphlet issued by the wife of a high government official at Washington. Yet can anyone ever imagine America dominated by professional soldiers or beginning a war of aggression against another nation? The appeal is made particularly to women and unless strong means are taken by those who believe there is a point below which it is not safe to go for a reasonable peace-time national defense it is certain that the new Congress will move to further reduce the army and navy."

Mr. Rogers was introduced by Commandant or Thaxton Eaton of the post who presided. He said that war was not yet eliminated from the world and national defense required a certain amount of protection. In discussing the army Congressman Rogers said that it had to be spread over a large area, the Philippines, Hawaiian Islands, Canal Zone Porto Rico and so forth and the small standing army advocated was not sufficient to cover all these points. In the United States alone there are but 40,000 men compared with France's 100,000, in the Ruhr district of Germany, where there is no active fighting. The duties of the army in peace times are numerous, engineering, road-building and policing, being the principal duties. An army of 125,000 is needed, even if there is no enemy, just for these duties.

He then told of the proposition of amalgamating the war and navy departments, which some people thought would cut down expense. He said that this was not feasible. In speaking of the navy, Mr. Rogers said that the treaty between the five great powers did limit the number of ships, but that while the United States had but one light cruiser, Great Britain had 44 and Japan had 15. Great Britain was building four more and the United States nine. Propagandists in Washington wanted the number of men in the navy cut to 67,000, but the officials who knew the facts said that

TRIBUTE TO MISSIONARY

Dr. Crawford Speaks at Memorial Service Held at South Church Sunday Morning

A beautiful and impressive memorial service for Mrs. Olive Trichell Crawford, a missionary of the American Board for forty years, was held at the South church last Sunday morning.

After a brief reference to the heroic work of Miss Mary L. Grafton for whom a memorial service was held two years ago, Rev. Mr. Bigelow presented Dr. Crawford, who in simple, eloquent language pictured the devoted service of his step-mother in foreign lands. The Scripture lesson was also read by Dr. Crawford, who chose for that portion of the service especially appropriate passages.

Dr. Crawford spoke as follows:

There are some here who can look back fifty years and remember my mother as an Abbot girl, tall, slender, beautiful; absolutely unselfish, and absolutely faithful to her ideals and to her work.

Five years after her graduation, in her seven and twentieth year, she decided to be a missionary, and went to Turkey.

And there are those who remember back twenty-five years, when she was here as a woman. She had found happiness in her missionary life—a husband and children. She had found also that which deepened somewhat the lines about her face; she had passed through the massacres of 1895.

Again she had been absolutely faithful. Sensitive, the sight of blood, the sound of weeping would almost make her cringe; and yet, as a little boy, I remember holding her in my arms, while she, with deft and gentle fingers washed and dressed the most frightful sword-gash I have ever seen.

Again she had been absolutely unselfish. When some friends in this country sent her a gift of money on her wedding anniversary, it came on the day when the doles of corn were distributed to the destitute; they had been having nothing but corn for nearly a year,—she spent the money in buying little bags of rice, so that each family might have

The exhibition of work by the girls' and boys' Guild gymnasium classes given in the Town hall last Friday evening, under the direction of Miss Vivian Taylor, and John Keefe was one of the best of the series of excellent exhibitions given annually at the close of the season's work.

The drills and marches were executed with a precision that showed careful training, and the costumes worn by those who performed the aesthetic dances made that part of the program especially attractive.

There was a large attendance of parents and friends, and the generous applause called for several encores.

The aesthetic classes gave a Polish dance, "Holland Kiddle" and "Sassy Sue." Little Ruby Laurie and Frances McTernan danced "In Grandmother's Day" in costumes of the olden time. Harriet Dill attired in pink pajamas and carrying her pillow and candle won all hearts with her charming interpretation of "Sleepy Time." Solo dances were also given by Marion Burridge in the "Faust Waltz," and May Beer, in "Fierette We All Adore You." The costumes of the girls who danced the butterfly dance were very striking, one representing a big yellow butterfly, and the other two being black butterflies.

The Indian club swinging by Miss Sadie MacLeish was made very effective by a special lighting arrangement.

The boys classes gave a good performance with dumbbells and apparatus work. They competed with the girls in the relay race and were the losers.

At intermission, Roland Lowe on behalf of the classes presented Miss Helen Otis with a beautiful bouquet for her faithful services as pianist during the year, as well as at the exhibition.

The pins awarded for perfect attendance were presented by W. Dudley Yates, president of the board of directors, to the following: Margaret Holden, Wilhelmina Holden, Alice Ryley, Margaret Sparks, Miriam Smith, Betty Newell, Marion Burridge, Doris Axon, Helen Means, Elizabeth Perry, Beatrice Farnsworth, Hazel Polgreen, Grace Hatch, Katherine Milne, Helena Hall, Dorothy Foster, Elaine Burt, Madeleine Kimball, Isabel Batchelder, Dorothy Trott, Eleanor Flint, Eleanor Downes, Margaret

TREMONT TEMPLE

Heralded as the longest, most instructive and at the same time most dramatic jungle film ever seen is H. A. Snow's "Hunting Big Game in Africa with Gun and Camera," which, after a sensational success for three months in New York, is now drawing crowded attendance at Tremont Temple, Boston. The third week begins Monday next, April 30th.

All sorts of jungle pictures have been shown in the last ten years, since Paul Rainey, intrepid American sportsman, took a camera with him into wildest Africa and for the first time showed the outside world some real motion pictures of the primeval zoo. But Rainey, to whom Mr. Snow pays due tribute, uncovered only a corner of the vast menagerie. Other corners were later uncovered here and there by various hunters and travelers, but not until Mr. Snow, with his son Sidney, went into darkest Africa a few years ago at the head of an expedition largely financed by the University of California was the covering ripped off the whole East African jungle land—the biggest stretch of wild game country now remaining.

The picture has been fairly described as "Three years of thrilling jungle hunt crowded into two hours on the screen." From a purely educational and scientific point of view, the pictures the Snow expedition brought back from the cradle of all the world's zoos could best be shown every night for a week. But to make a perfect entertainment of its kind, fascinating to young and old, only the cream of the pictures is disclosed in "Hunting Big Game in Africa with Gun and Camera." Attacks by rhinoceros and elephant herds are the dramatic high spots of this unique film, but to many people the running fight between the diver and the warthog is a comic climax more amazing and amusing than anything else. Every known jungle beast, from the lion to the springbok, is revealed in realistic fashion, as he really lives from day to day, fighting and frolicking. It was to get complete pictures of everyday drama in this wildest and oldest spot in the jungle lands that the University of California urged the Snow expedition on. Nearly three years and $300,000 were spent ranging with gun and camera from the East Coast to mid-Africa, and apparently the Snows missed nothing more than a few blades of grass. Everything living, man, bird and beast, was "shot" some way or other.

"Hunting Big Game in Africa with Gun and Camera" is being presented by Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal film service. Performances are given every afternoon and evening except Sunday.

Permanent Fund Given to Perpetuate Faculty Prize

The Faculty prize, awarded at Phillips academy each Commencement to that member of the graduating class who has maintained the highest average in scholarship, and sustained for many years by Mr. Sanford H. Freund, of the class of 1897, has recently been placed on a permanent basis by the gift to the Trustees of the sum of one thousand dollars, an amount sufficient to provide an annual income of fifty dollars which has been the regular prize award.

Thus, through Mr. Freund's generosity, this prize, which is in many ways the most significant offered during the year, is to be maintained in perpetuity.

Celebrated Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilliard of Philadelphia, celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Gilliard on Chestnut street, last Saturday evening. It was a very quiet affair and was attended only by members of the immediate family and by Miss Elsie Richards of Philadelphia, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilliard.

The home was very prettily decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. From an archway of laurel was suspended a large golden bell, over which were the words in gold, "Your Golden Wedding." A wedding supper was served by the hostess, Mrs. Stephen A. Gilliard. Mr. and Mrs. Gilliard received many beautiful gifts, including a gold wrist watch, a gold pencil and a purse of gold. They also received congratulatory messages wishing them many more years of wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilliard were born in Maidstone, County Kent, England, and were married in that town on April 20, 1873, in St. Stephen's church by Rev. Henry Corlies, rector. The same year Mr. Gilliard came to America and settled in Philadelphia. The following year the young bride joined her husband and they have continued to make their home in the Quaker city, where Mr.

Gilliard is in business as an elevator constructor.

They have three daughters, Mrs. Henry Richards and Mrs. Wilbur Miller of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Guy Schertle of Los Angeles, Cal. They have 17 grandchildren. Mr. Gilliard is a brother of Stephen A. Gilliard of this town.

Interesting Missionary Exhibit to Be Held at Free Church

A grand missionary exhibit with Home and Foreign missionary booths and tableaux, will be presented in the Free Church on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and evenings, May 9 and 10. Material for exhibit is being gathered from every available source.

Many interesting curios and relics will be loaned by the American Board, the Woman's Board and the American Missionary Association. A collection of Chinese dolls will be one of the most interesting exhibits. Headdress, clothing representing the different countries, Mexican art objects, strange implements of torture, cooking utensils, and innumerable other curios will be on display. People in Andover who possess suitable articles for exhibit are invited to loan them, with assurance that everything will be carefully tabulated, safeguarded and returned. Those in charge of the different booths are as follows: India, Mrs. John C. Angus, 119 Main street; Japan, Mrs. Dana W. Clark, Shawheen village; Africa, Mrs. Robert Nicoll, 51 Whittier street; China, Miss Jean Dundas, 46 Summer street and Miss Jennie R. Hinchcliffe, Highland road; Turkey and Armenia, Mrs. Cecelia Derrah, 28 Summer street; Mexico, Mrs. Edwin Perry, 70 Elm street; the American Missionary Association, Mrs. Harry A. Ramsdell, 1 Summer street.

A small admission will be charged to cover expenses and tags will be sold that will admit to all parts of the exhibit and to the tableaux which will be given in the evening. This is not a money-making project but simply an attempt to acquaint people with missionary work and methods. The general public is cordially invited to attend.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

at least a little taste of something different from what they had been eating for so long. And she had also grown to a depth of understanding and a breadth of sympathy, even for those who were not of her fold. Once, when my father returned from a trip into the interior, whither he had gone to administer relief, he brought a message from a priest in one of the little towns. His church had been looted and practically destroyed; but what he grieved over most was the loss of his priestly vestments, so that he could not celebrate the high service of Easter in the appropriate manner. My mother herself made him his vestments; they were sent up to him, and his Easter service could proceed with the complete solemnity that he had desired.

There are those too who remember my mother as she walked the streets of this town, and worshipped in this church, accompanied by a little Armenian girl, three short years ago. The deportations had been ordered in the city of Trebizonde, but my father and mother had been able to keep four or five hundred in their house. They hoped to save them; but when the soldiers broke in, and began to drive them out, there was nothing they could do. As the Armenians were going, one young woman, a former pupil of my mother, crowded up to her and placed in her hands her little baby, saying, "I am sorry, but you can save my child." And my mother suffered the little child to come unto her and forbare it not; and she and my father nursed her and cared for her; and later my mother alone nurtured her, until she could bring her to this country and give her into the hands of her kinsmen.

She walked the streets of this town, and worshipped in this church, and yet she seemed to lead a life apart.

There was a door to which one found no key.

There was a veil through which one could not see.

She had survived the war, but the war had taken her husband, and all alone she had carried on. All alone she had carried on the work of the mission, all alone she had carried on the duties of the consular service of the allied nations.

She lived apart while she was with us, and yet she was very human too; and she joined in the joys and in the sorrows of the people in the homeland, understanding and sympathizing.

Then she returned alone, yet glorying in the opportunity, again to carry on; to work among the orphans and the refugees, absolutely forgetful of self in her care of the sick and dying, absolutely faithful, faithful unto death. For her death was brought on by her service, stricken by the scourge that was ravaging among those to whom she ministered, she died. There was infinite pathos in the loneliness of her death, and yet there was also about it a magnificence.

The most impressive portion of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, is that in which he bids dead shall not have died in vain. During the war our common enthusiasm for the prosecution of the high task of ridding the world of selfishness and militarism, was thoroughly aroused. But since the war, this country, whose share was the noblest, has lain dormant; and we have failed to urge some form of association or affiliation which would render future wars impossible. We have failed to "highly resolve that our dead shall not have died in vain." Immersed and interested in our own little lives we have failed to peer into the future, for as human eyes can see. See the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be. When the war drum throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were furled. In the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World!

We comfort ourselves by merely optimistically hoping and perhaps believing that. It comes yet for a' that.

That man to man the world o'er Shall brethren be for a' that. But not until such time, when we as individuals and as a nation, are willing to forget ourselves, and to realize, as did my mother, that we have all one Father, and that we are our brother's keeper, shall we hereby highly resolve that our dead shall not have died in vain.

Local Delegates Attend Conference in Lowell

At the annual meeting of the Andover Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers held Tuesday afternoon and evening at the Eliot Union Congregational church in Lowell, Rev. E. Victor Bigelow of the South Church was elected delegate to the national council to be held in October, with Rev. Newman Matthews of the West Church as alternate. It was voted that the next annual meeting of the association be held in October in North Andover with Rev. Newman Matthews as moderator.

Delegates from the Andover churches who attended Tuesday's conference were: Rev. E. Victor Bigelow, Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. G. M. R. Holmes, Mrs. J. J. Abbott, Miss Florence Cummings, Miss Lois Cummings, Mrs. J. Harold Melledge, and Mrs. Frank Cole, from the South Church; Rev. Arthur S. Wheelock, Mrs. Dana W. Clark, Mrs. David S. Lindsay, Mrs. Agnes K. Dear and Thomas David, from the Free Church; Rev. Newman Matthews, Deacon Edward W. Boutwell, Mrs. E. W. Burt, Mrs. George H. Baxter, and Mrs. Augustus Horman, from the West Church.

Observe Rally Day

Sunday morning at the session of the Free church school missionary Rally Day was observed and an offering for missions amounted to nearly $50.

William J. Whitehall, superintendent of the school, tried an innovation which was successful in bringing in money. Each class, as it was called, sent a representative who, on a dial similar to the ones used in street cars, rang up in dimes the amount contributed by each class. Mrs. Caroline M. Phillips' class of small boys was the high contributor, their total for the month being $8.16.

Miss Mary Caldwell was soloist at the opening service and sang very sweetly, Ambrosia's "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" with E. G. Booth, accompanist.

Children's Dancing Party

The children's dancing class conducted by Mrs. Bailey of Lawrence, held the closing lesson of the season, at the November clubhouse on Tuesday afternoon.

Many parents and friends were present to enjoy the pretty scenes as the young people went through the various dances. There was a favor dance and refreshments were served.

A beautiful bouquet of roses was presented by the class to Mrs. Bailey, and a Colonial bouquet to Miss Evelyn Bailey, who has been assisting in the teaching.

Work of Reconstructing the Lawrence-Andover Highway Begun

Work on the reconstruction of State highway extending from the Lawrence-Andover line on South Broadway south to Stimpson's bridge, was commenced on Tuesday of this week.

The steam shovels began excavating near the ink factory and will work north, completing that portion of the road before beginning work on the roadway south of that point. The work is being done by the M. McDonough company of Swampscott.

The new road will be the very latest concrete type and designed for use of the heaviest trucks with great loads, and should be in readiness by August 1.

Detour signs erected at each end of the first section to be started, cause traffic to be diverted from South Broadway into South street, Lawrence, and Union street, Andover.

The detour will tax the skill and patience of many motorists, and the Lawrence Auto Club have, in addition to placing safety signs along the way, issued the following statement:

"The diverting of traffic from our busiest road into Union and South streets presents a serious traffic hazard, especially at the south end of South street, near the intersection of Union street; the road is narrow, of soft construction, and will soon break down under heavy trucks. Motorists are urged to use unusual care. Difficulty will be experienced in passing large trucks with wide bodies, especially in the night time. Don't take a chance; you may go over the embankment."

Mothers' Club Holds Food Sale and Entertainment

The "Family Album" was presented by members of the Andover Mothers' club and Parent-Teachers association at a sale and entertainment held Monday evening in Pumphard hall, for the benefit of the public schools.

Mrs. Millie Hammond furnished the titles and history, and those who appeared in the album were Mrs. John A. Collins, Mrs. Aubrey Polgreen, Mrs. Alexander Crockett, Mrs. Frank Belcourt, Mrs. B. Frank Hatch, Mrs. Ralph W. Coleman, Mrs. Fred L. Collins, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Otis Keith, Mrs. Horace Eaton, Mrs. Frank M. Foster, Mrs. Walter Burton, Mrs. Edward Cole, Mrs. James Walker, Mrs. William Bateson, Mrs. Elmer Davis and Betty Manning. The opening of the album created much amusement for the audience.

The numbers on the program by members of the Guild gymnasium classes were greatly appreciated. Marion Burrage danced the "Faust Waltz"; Ruby Laurie and Frances McTernan "In Grandmother's Day," and the members of the intermediate and aesthetic classes gave "Sassy Sue." The "Butterfly dance" was prettily executed by Annette Anderson, May Valentine, and Margaret Buchanan.

During the evening the Pumphard school orchestra composed of Miss Alice Chase, piano, Ashley Barnes, Charles Frederickson, Selden Billington, violins, John Frederickson, saxophone, and Louis Soderberg, drums and traps, rendered a number of selections in a very pleasing manner.

A sale of home-made cake, candy, pies and doughnuts in charge of Mrs. John C. Ralph and Mrs. Alfred Pullen had a very generous patronage. Mrs. Charles S. Buchanan was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Choir Supper at Christ Church

The members of the choir of Christ church were entertained at supper by a group of women of the parish on Wednesday evening. Mrs. W. D. Walker was the efficient chairman of the committee.

The parish house was decorated for the occasion by Miss Alice Jenkins. On the central table was a gaily decorated Maypole and on the side tables were potted plants.

Covers were laid for fifty and the following appetizing menu was served by candle light: Fruit cocktail, cold chicken and ham, potatoes, peas, rolls, ice cream, cake, coffee and fruit punch.

After the supper there was singing by Thomas Parkinson and Leland Gates. The books offered as prizes by Vaughan Jealous were awarded by Rev. C. W. Henry to the following boys having perfect records during Lent: John Hilton, William Nicoll, Burton Whitcomb and Archibald Davidson.

J. S. Job made a short speech in which he proposed a vote of thanks for the evening's entertainment which was vociferously adopted by all present.

Buy's Jenkins Homestead

A part of the Jenkins farm on Salem street has been purchased by Harold W. Roberts of 352 Haverhill street, Lawrence. The farm belongs to Lyman Priest of Stow, who retains 189 acres of land. Mr. Roberts bought the homestead and 42 acres of farm land.

Hold Dancing Party

The final session of Miss Gladys Siskind's dancing class for adults was held Monday night at the Guild house. Frank A. Buttrick, in behalf of the class, presented Miss Siskind with a beautiful bouquet.

After the dance, the party adjourned to the Masonic club where refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Winkley, Mr. and Mrs. J. Houghton Flint, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Hadley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Buttrick, Mr. and Mrs. David L. Wade, Mrs. Harry Sellers, Mrs. Virley Stevenson, and Mrs. Philip Hardy.

Rain Gives Respite from Brush Fires

Three box alarms were given on Saturday besides numerous still alarms for brush fires which gave the department a busy day.

The first alarm at 11.52, from Box 52, was for a grass fire on Burnham road which threatened several houses. At noon there was a fire at the house of Peter Myatt on Highland road which was extinguished before the fire apparatus arrived. A cigar thrown from a passing automobile started a briar grass fire on land of the Inter-city Trust at Carter's Corner and an alarm was sounded from Box 32.

On Sunday the fire fighters were called to a brush fire on Canterbury street and on Tuesday night to a chimney fire at the home of Mrs. Marion L. Wilkinson at 36 High street.

It surely must warm the heart of the Andover to Lawrence traveler to see work started on the construction of a new road from Stimson's bridge to the Lawrence line. To be sure, it means another summer hold-up conditions similar to those experienced in the construction of Main street, last summer, but at least that construction has given us something to which we can look with the thought that the improvement was well worth the trouble. It is to be hoped that Lawrence officials will take notice of the extreme danger of the bridge which crosses the railroad tracks just over the Lawrence line. To be sure it is well posted at the bridge itself, but a sign several hundred feet each way from the actual crossing might help to forewarn the driver who happens to be unfamiliar with that particular stretch of road.

A portion of the public works force spent a particularly effective day yesterday, when they distributed a tar rock combination along the holes in Main street's sidewalks and did some preparatory grading along the west side of the street. When one of the town's departments combines both prospective beauty and immediate utility in its daily labors it is deserving of commendation.

The Greatest Concert of the Season in Chapel of Phillips Academy

What promises to be the most pretentious concert given in recent years in the chapel of Phillips Academy will take place next Wednesday evening, at 8 o'clock. The first half of the program will be played by the Boston Symphony Ensemble—thirteen musicians from the Boston Symphony Orchestra—which created such general enthusiasm at its concert in the chapel last fall.

The second half of the program will consist of Bach's Cantata: "Sleepers wake, for night is flying," one of the finest of the choral compositions of Bach based upon the greatest hymn-tune ever written, the Choral commonly called the "King of Chorals." Those who fear the contrapuntal webs of Bach will find the Cantata extremely melodious. The work will be sung by the Fidelity Society of Bradford Academy, and the Choir of Phillips. It consists of a great opening chorus, two superb duets for soprano and bass solo, a fine tenor unison with orchestral obbligato, and a majestic harmonization of the choral intended to be sung by the entire audience.

The assisting soloists will be Esther Ferrabini, a grand opera prima donna, and Mr. Humphrey, bass soloist, from Boston. Felix Fox will play a series of piano solos and Mr. Pfatfeicher will play the Prelude to the Choral upon which the Cantata is based. The Symphony Ensemble will play Weber's "Oberon" Overture; "La Fera" by La-come; Incidental Music from Schubert's "Rosamunde"; the Magic Fire Music from Wagner's "Walkure," etc. The evening will thus present a symposium of orchestral, choral, vocal, piano and organ music. Admission, $1.00 at the door.

Knights Purchase Swift Property

The building committee of Andover Council 1078, Knights of Columbus, met with the Andover Associates Wednesday evening, and purchased the Swift house, and two lots of land on Chestnut street. When the building is moved, it will be almost directly opposite the residence of William H. Higgins.

After the meeting a special meeting was held, and organization of the building committee was formed with the following officers elected: President, Attorney Joseph L. Burns; first vice president, William C. Crowley; second vice president, Dr. J. J. Daley; secretary and treasurer, Frank S. McDonald.

An architect will be engaged next week to draw up plans for the remodeling of the house with the addition of the new assembly hall.

Abbot Academy Receives Gift of Art Treasures

By the will of Miss Susanna W. Smith, late of Boston, Abbot academy has been made the recipient of two beautiful copies of paintings by old masters. The copies were made about thirty years ago by Preusser, a copyist of distinction, from Raphael's "Sistine Madonna" and Van der Meer's "The Love Letter," both in the Dresden Gallery. These paintings are a notable addition to the art treasures of the school. They will shortly be exhibited in the John Esther Art Gallery.

The opening of the new American Legion rooms Tuesday night, in the quarters formerly occupied by the R. C. O. A. should bring considerable satisfaction to those who have worked to see the Legion in more suitable quarters than they have had up to the present. The Legion has accomplished much in a quiet and unobtrusive way since its formation in the town and the addition to its organization of a more suitable place for social meeting should serve to strengthen it greatly.

Do you need to be warned that you're due to lose an hour somewhere between Saturday evening and Sunday morning, or that you've got to get used to the fact that trains will again be leaving all stations of the Boston and Maine by "our time," on and after April 29?

The announcement in another column that a Lawrence Real Estate man is planning to construct Andover's first apartment house in the near future is a matter of pretty general interest to the community. More interesting, is the fact that Mr. Carroll will have in mind in the construction of his building, the general character of the neighborhood, and he will plan to construct a house that will be an addition to Andover's main street as well as a very welcome addition to Andover's housing facilities.

Tuesday Club Holds Annual Meeting

The Annual meeting of the Tuesday club was held at the home of Mrs. Francis H. Foster on Tuesday afternoon, when the officers for the year 1923-24 were elected and annual reports given.

Starting as a study club nearly twenty years ago, the Tuesday club has steadily grown and broadened, and while it still retains the original purpose, and takes pride in the fact that the programs this year on Old New England have all been furnished by the members, other matters also engage its attention.

It has continued to care for the twelve-year-old girl, in whom they have been interested for several years, by placing her in an excellent home-school, where she is being taught the regular school subjects, and receiving training along domestic lines as well. Beside providing the necessary funds for the child's support, $100 has been contributed to the Permanent Endowment fund of the school.

It has also given $100, to the Near East Relief, and $100 towards refurbishing the Guild house. This money was raised in the annual rummage sales which the club has held at the Guild house in the fall. The club helped to collect books for the American Merchant Marine Library association.

For outside speakers this year the club has had two, both on subjects of much interest to women. Mrs. Beals gave a demonstration, at one of the regular meetings, of the daily dishes which can be prepared from the Dromedary products, dates and cocoa. At the open meeting, Miss Wheeler from Filene's was presented and gave a helpful talk on choosing proper clothes and exhibited several up-to-date costumes.

The new officers elected are: President, Miss C. Madeleine Hewes; vice president, Mrs. Henry A. Bodwell; secretary, Mrs. Ernest T. Hethington; treasurer, Mrs. Frank L. Brigham.

"The Private Tutor"

The sophomore class of Pynchard High school gave a very successful presentation of the comedy, "The Private Tutor," before a crowded house in Pynchard hall Friday night.

The play was the story of two boys who were suspended from school for thirty days for attending a prize fight, and to keep the news from their parents when they visited school, "engaged" a private tutor. Although only a "tooter" in a German band, he passed as a German count. This led to many complications, as lies generally do, but explanations followed and the situation was cleared up to everyone's relief.

William Simone as Hans Dinklerder, the German band leader and private "tooter," made a big hit. The two "suspensions" were Fred Spencer and George Caruthers, cleverly impersonated by Calvin Metcalf and Franklin Belcour. The other members of the cast were Dorothy Spencer by Frances Farrell, Mrs. Spencer by Clara Richards, Mr. Spencer by Paul Dyer, Richard, the butler by Abbott Cheever and Miss Snap a detective, by Eleanor Flint.

The play was directed and coached by Miss Lillian J. E. Fox and Miss Dora Tutin. A prize for selling the most tickets was won by Emma Daniels.

Candy was sold by Charlotte White, Margaret Moore, Shirley McKee, Beatrice Stevens, Helen Davis, Emma Daniels and Gardner Shaw.

Before the play and during intermission, musical selections were rendered by John and Charles Frederickson and Miss Alice Chase. The ushers were John Souter, John Carroll and Alan Polgreen and William Doherty had charge of the tickets at the door.

Woman's Union Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Woman's Union of the South church, for the hearing of reports and the election of officers was held yesterday afternoon in the ladies' parlor.

The meeting opened with devotional exercises led by the president, Miss Mary Alice Abbott. Reports were heard from the secretary and treasurer and from the chairman of the various committees which carry on the work of the union, including a most interesting and comprehensive account of the activities of the Junior Helpers, written by one of its members.

The nominating committee consisting of Mrs. Arthur W. Bassett, chairman, Mrs. David Shaw and Miss Mattie Robinson gave their report and officers were elected as follows: President, Miss Mary Alice Abbott; vice president, Miss Mary Bell; secretary, Mrs. C. Edgar Folk; treasurer, Mrs. Frederick H. Jones; chairman domestic committee, Mrs. George T. Abbott; chairman hospitality committee, Mrs. George B. Frost; sewing committee, Mrs. Charles Palmer, Mrs. Alvin Jenkins and Mrs. Wright; secretary of sewing committee, Miss Sarah Poor; chairman prayer meeting committee, Mrs. John Ferguson; social committee, chairman of entertainment, Mrs. George Hadley; chairman of supper, Mrs. Herbert White; chairman of missionary committee, Mrs. John V. Holt.

Various requests for help were considered and referred to a committee consisting of Miss Mary Bell, Mrs. Frederick H. Jones and Miss Jane B. Carpenter, treasurer of the missionary committee.

A delightful musical program was rendered consisting of a piano solo by Miss Margaret Moore, a vocal duet "I Wait For the Lord" by Mrs. Frederic G. Moore and Miss Mabel Carter; a piano solo "Arabesque" by Mrs. F. H. Foster; Schubert's Serenade sung by Mrs. Frederic G. Moore with piano accompaniment by Miss Helen Eaton, and a piano solo "Nocturne" by Mrs. F. H. Foster.

A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring chairman and to the entertainers of the afternoon.

A social hour was enjoyed tea being served by Miss Mary Bell and Mrs. Frank L. Cole.

Will Tender Tea to Abbot Faculty

The Abbot alumnae of Andover will celebrate the birthday of the school by giving an informal tea in honor of the faculty on Saturday afternoon, May 5, from 4 to 6, in the November Club house.

All local former students are combining to express in this way their appreciation of the splendid work done in the school and more especially the many invitations to take advantage of school privileges.

This announcement will take the place of individual notices to former students. Birthday gifts may be carried to the party or sent to Mrs. John L. Phillips, 53 Phillips street, before May 20.

Department of Music Entertains November Club

Members of the November club are accustomed to hearing a good concert each year from the Music Department, and their expectations this year were abundantly fulfilled. The program was interesting and well-balanced, and representative of the year's work. The club is very fortunate in having such competent musicians.

The overture played by Mrs. Angus and Mrs. Sanborn made a good beginning to a very pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Mahoney's careful and artistic interpretation was shown in all the Schubert songs, and was especially delightful in the "Haiden-Poslein" and the song "To be Sung on the Water."

The quintet was a difficult piece of work, long, varied and brilliant, and it was well played. Mrs. Paige's playing is always admirable and it was never better than in her ensemble work with the strings and in her accompaniments to the songs. Mrs. Paige very generously lent her own piano for the occasion. The club trio, of which the department is very proud, was fortunate in the high quality of the two assisting musicians. The large audience greatly enjoyed the whole program, and would gladly have listened longer.

Shorten Brothers will open an automobile accessory store at 11 Elm street tomorrow. They will have for sale gasoline, oil, tires, and general supplies.

M. Lawrence Shields Appointed Member of Phillips Faculty

The appointment to the faculty of Phillips Academy of M. Lawrence Shields, graduate of Penn State in the class of 1922, has recently been announced. Mr. Shields assumed his duties this week and, in all probability, will lend his services in connection with the track and field program with Coach Shepard. While at Penn State, Mr. Shields was active in track athletics and last year won the intercollegiate mile at the Harvard Stadium.

Natural History Society Plans Bird Walks

A joint meeting of the executive and advisory committees of the Andover Natural History society was held Tuesday night, and planned the season's program. All of the events have not been arranged but two important bird meetings are scheduled. On Saturday afternoon, May 5, there will be the annual excursion through the game sanctuary leaving the Pynchard School at 4.30. On Wednesday, May 9, there will be an early-morning hike through the woods starting at 5 o'clock.

The next regular meeting of the society is scheduled for Tuesday evening, May 15, in the Pynchard lecture room when Edwin T. Brewster will speak on "Frogs and Other Amphibia."

Features at K. of C. Minstrel Show

Local hits, popular songs, and clever feature acts will be attractions at the Knights of Columbus minstrel show to be held this evening in the town hall. The chorus which includes forty voices is taken from the local council, and St. Monica's Court, C. D. of A.

Outside talent including Eddie Doherty and Bob Doyle who made a hit in the Lawrence Follies will be seen in a specialty act and young William Crowley and William McDonald will also appear in Barney Googie.

Advance sale of tickets indicates a full house. Dancing will be enjoyed, the music being furnished by Millington's orchestra.

Abbot Loyalty Night

As the time approaches the birthday of Abbot academy, May sixth, stirrings of loyalty appear among the alumnae of Abbot academy, far and near.

On Wednesday afternoon, May second, at three o'clock, an Abbot musicale will be given at the Copley-Plaza in Boston. Among the artists named are Miss Marjorie Moody, singer, and Mr. Sanroma, pianist.

An Abbot luncheon for the district of southern Massachusetts and Rhode Island, is to be held in Taunton, May 7. An Abbot club is being formed in Connecticut with its first meeting on May 11, at New Haven, and the Abbot alumnae of Andover are planning a special celebration as may be noted in another column.

The members of the present Academy wish also to show their loyalty to the old school, on its ninety-fourth birthday.

By special request, the Senior Class has consented to repeat the class play, "The Merchant of Venice," for the benefit of the Loyalty Endowment Fund. The play has its first performance, May first. The second will be given in Davis hall on Tuesday evening, May eighth, at seven-thirty. Admission $1.00.

The undergraduates ask the cooperation of Abbot alumnae generally in making this occasion a notable success. It is hoped that all Andover friends of the school will save this date and attend, bringing their friends with them.

Alumnae and friends of the school from outside Andover will be warmly welcome. Let the hall be crowded to its capacity! Those who live within easy motoring distance should make up theatre parties to give their friends an opportunity to see what Abbot is like.

The play is good, but the school is the thing. Make this a great night for Abbot!

St Catherine's Guild to Hold Sale

On Thursday evening, May 10, the children of St. Catherine's Guild will hold their annual sale and entertainment in the parish-house of Christ church. There will be a play with the remarkable title of "Alice Through the Postal-Card," and the play is as remarkable as its title. There will be music by the children, and also by Mrs. Paige, Mrs. J. J. Mahoney, and Mrs. Ashton. To have these accomplished musicians means much to this little society, and to their audience.

As for the sale, there will be some articles never before offered to the public. These little girls have a reputation for making dainty and unusual things for their missionary work, and this year is no exception. Tickets, at twenty cents, will soon be obtainable from members of the Guild.

Art Department to Visit Boston Art Museum

The art department of the November club will enoy a visit to the Paul Revere Pottery and the Boston Art Museum on Monday, April 30, and will welcome all club members who care to take the trip with them.

A party will leave Andover on the 7:28 train (railroad time) meeting those who go by automobile at the Paul Revere Pottery, Brighton, as soon after 9:30 (daylight-saving time) as possible. To reach the meeting place the party will take a Lake street and Commonwealth avenue car, and get off at Leanington road, Brighton.

At one o'clock the party will again assemble at the Boston Art Museum where Miss Wheeler will show the Italian paintings, also exhibits of leather, jewelry, wrought iron and carved wood.

In the evening all are invited to a free concert by the Symphony Orchestra to be given at the museum.

HEADQUARTERS OPENED

86,000 were necessary and they have prevailed for the time being.

Congressman Rogers said that there was grave danger of the influence these propagandists in Washington are having, some even going so far as to make a pledge that they would do no war work, such as make bandages, nursing or anything of the sort if the country should again be plunged into war. He did not favor having the spirit of aggression, but said that the future generation must be educated to know the best way in which the country could be protected if war should come. He said it was not a question of Democrat or Republican, but the working together of the Atlantic Seaboard, the Solid South and the West in the best interests of the whole country.

The auxiliary has received the refreshments of sandwiches, coffee, doughnuts and cheese were enjoyed.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion held last evening with Mrs. Fred G. Cheney presiding, it was voted to assist in the furnishing of the kitchen at the new headquarters.

The auxiliary has received an invitation from Commander Eaton, offering the auxiliary the use of the legion rooms on one afternoon each week. The auxiliary chose Tuesday as their afternoon, and on the first afternoon, May 8, the entertainment will take the form of a kitchen shower, in charge of Mrs. Harry Gouck, Mrs. David Hartigan and Mrs. John Henderson.

A complete list of the necessary equipment has been prepared by the president and the well equipped kitchen will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the new headquarters.

Attorney Cora Abbott was elected to fill the position of Secretary, left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Lucy A. Eaton. Mrs. Cheney, on behalf of the auxiliary, presented the retiring secretary with a beautiful Oriental centerpiece, expressing their appreciation of Mrs. Eaton's faithful and untiring work for the auxiliary.

A sum of money was voted as a gift toward the permanent fund for decorating the soldiers' graves in France. Mrs. Cheney read the radio message broadcasted from Troy, N. Y., on April 23, asking those who heard the story about the fund to support the undertaking and pass along the message.

It was voted to donate a coffee percolator to the hope chest which is being prepared by the Essex county chapters to raise $1000 for welfare work. The members have also pledged themselves to prepare wreaths with which to decorate the soldiers' graves on Memorial Day.

Saturday, being Arbor and Bird day, Commander Eaton of the Legion desires that all men and boys interested, and the Boy Scouts assist in clearing up the Indian Ridge Reservation. The party will meet at the Legion rooms at 1:45. Refreshments of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee will be served. Mrs. John Henderson's, Red Spring road.

Three new members were received into the membership of the Legion Auxiliary.

At the close of the business meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Annie G. Miller, Mrs. John Garside and Mrs. Timothy McCarthy.

Mother and Daughter Banquet

The Alpha Phi Chi society of the South church is pleased to announce that the annual Mothers' and Daughters' banquet will be held Tuesday evening, May 15. All mothers and daughters of the South Church parish are most cordially invited.

There is to be no charge, each ticket to admit one mother and one daughter. Tickets are obtainable from club members, also at the Cross Coal Co.'s office, and from Miss Jennie Gadapee at Hethrington's store. If a family requires more than one ticket it will gladly be given upon request. The mothers and daughters of the parish are requested to secure their tickets as early as possible, and not later than May 9.

Obituary

MRS. SUSAN M. JOHNSON SEARS

The funeral service for Mrs. Susan M. Sears will be held at her late residence on Whittier street, Saturday, April 28th, at two o'clock.

She was born nearly eighty years ago, August 14th, 1843, in the house on Central street, corner of Brook street. Her father, Dr. Samuel Johnson, had owned the entire property on which now stands the Christ Episcopal church and rectory.

He was a man of unusual public spirit and civic judgment, having filled various offices in the service of the town, besides practicing his profession of medicine. On one Fourth of July morning the Doctor was starting off in his buggy to visit his patients when the fractious horse kicked through the dashboard, striking the Doctor a blow from the effects of which he died in the year 1853.

Susan Maria Johnson was then eleven years old, having three brothers and one sister. She grew up with her widowed mother and became her constant companion after finishing her school days in Pynchard and in Abbot academy. Sixty-four years ago she was united with the South church in company with Miss Ellen Ellis, Miss Laura Chandler, and Mrs. Ballard Holt, who now survive her.

The portion of church work which most appealed to her and in which she and her mother were much engaged was the sewing department, in which missionary barrels were packed for missionary families in the West and for the colored people of the South. Her deeds of practical benevolence made an endless stream throughout her life.

In the year 1886 she married Mr. J. C. Sears a shoe merchant, with whom she lived in her late home on Whittier street, until his death in 1905.

The last five years of her widowhood have been spent in the patience of an invalid; and in the devoted care of her sister-in-law, Miss Sears, and of her nieces, with the help of a large legacy left by her last-surviving brother, Dr. John Johnson, an eminent surgeon of New York City, who died several years ago.

She is remembered by her friends as a strong personality with much dignity and poise, while harboring a keen sense of humor and a generous compassion. Her interest in historical lore was emphasized by her inheritance of seven generations of New England ancestry, making her a Daughter of The Revolution and a Daughter of the American Revolution through several lines. It is quite appropriate that her grandfather's house in North Andover is now the home of the Historical Society, and that the Ridge-wood Cemetery where her body will rest, was established by her father, and that the first burial in it was that of her grandfather.

E. VICTOR BIGELOW

JAMES H. BLADES

James H. Blades, former station agent at the old Boston & Lowell depot, passed away Sunday at the family home, 592 Haverhill street, Lawrence, aged 70 years. Deceased was born in Newport, R. I., and had resided in the neighboring city for the past fifteen years. He leaves his wife, Eliza A. (Morris); two sons, Phillips B. of Shawheen Village, and Albert H. of Lawrence, a sister, Mrs. Maria A. Wadlin of Andover; two brothers, Alfred E. of Lowell, Benjamin F. of Holyoke. He was very well known in Masonic circles, being affiliated with Tuscan lodge, A. F. and A. M., Mount Sinai Royal Arch Chapter and Bethany Commandery, Knights Templars. He was a member of St. John's Episcopal church.

The funeral was held from the late home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Henry Wood officiated at the services. A eulogium from the Knights Templars was presented including John Majerison, William Fisher, William Paisley, George Mowat and B. Morgan. The bearers were Alfred Blades, Benjamin Blades, William Glover, Howard Waterhouse, John Majerison and B. Morgan. There was a large and beautiful display of flowers. Burial took place in the Bellevue cemetery.

Marie Nichols Gives Recital

Abbot Academy presented Miss Marie Nichols, artist, and member of the music department of the school, in a violin recital on Tuesday night.

The weather was very inclement and the audience smaller than would have been the case if the evening had been fine.

The program was notable. Respighi's Sonata in A minor was the principal piece. Heifitz brought out this sonata in New York recently, so Miss Nichols cannot claim a first performance, but hers is one of the earliest presentations.

Respighi is one of the notable modern composers of today. He is best known by his string quartet in this country. The Boston Symphony Orchestra played his "Dance of the Gnomes" at the last concert. The sonata is not excessively radical. The melodies are modern, but grateful, and usually distinguished. On first hearing the sonata seems inevitable except for a few spots which are difficult to assimilate. Miss Nichols has performed a real service in giving Andover the opportunity of hearing this work, for no judgment of contemporary music can be made, unless it is heard.

Pieces by Palmgren, Korngold, and Jørgen, were of special interest.

Miss Nichols played this program of less familiar music with a sure hand, and with evident interest and sincerity. Her technique was always entirely adequate for all purposes, and her interpretations interesting—especially in the Korngold concert. Harrison Potter assisted as pianist, and accompanied the difficult piano score of the Respighi sonata with real distinction. His work in the Passacaglia was virile.

Poor old Broom was a good old soul, But we fear the discard's now his goal.

THE broom bears the same relation to a vacuum cleaner that a tallow candle does to an incandescent or a horse car does to an electric car. The broom belongs in the days that have gone—the old days when from sun to sun a woman's work was never done. The vacuum cleaner surely has won the V. C.

KEEN SEARCH FOR EGYPTIAN RELICS

University of Pennsylvania Is Sharing in Antiquary Research With Four Parties.

Philadelphia, Pa.—The University of Pennsylvania's Egyptian expedition, which has been delving into buried history at the entrance of the Valley of the Kings, where the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amen was recently found, is preparing to move to a cooler climate to continue searching for bits of information relating to the activities of men in past ages.

The university is now conducting four expeditions. One is in the Valley of the Kings, another at Memphis, which was the oldest capital of Egypt; a third in Palestine, and another in Babylonia, where in connection with the expedition of the British museum, an ancient temple believed to have been built 3,000 years before the birth of Christ was discovered. Announcement of the finding of this temple was recently made. Inscriptions were found showing that King Nebuchadnezzar repaired the place during his reign in the Sixth century, B. C.

Excavation Work Continuous.

The university has arranged the work of her excavators so that when the hot weather season comes in one place they move to another, assuring almost continuous effort.

The work now coming to a close is at Thebes in an area adjoining the concession of Lord Carnarvon. During the two seasons of digging at Thebes several tombs have been discovered constructed in the same way as that of Tut-Ankh-Amen, but all of them open and looted. The objects found in each were not of interest to robbers, such as canopic jars, ushabtis, inscriptions and papyri.

In the last named class of objects a really notable discovery was made at the close of last season, when two sealed pottery cylinders were found within the entrance chamber of a tomb, which contained rolls of papyri. These were in a perfect state of preservation. On the outside of each roll was a document written in ancient Greek, and upon examination the papyri proved to be Demotic documents dating from 318 B. C. to 265 B. C. They are mostly contracts, and contain the business transactions of a family during the period of years which they covered. These papyri are now being translated in the university museum.

All of the tombs discovered on the museum's concession were of officials of the government of Thebes who wished to be buried near the kings, and whose tombs are, therefore, found in close proximity to the royal resting places.

At the same time that the university museum is working this concession at Thebes it is also excavating at Memphis, 14 miles above Cairo, where the museum expedition discovered several years ago the royal palace of Merenptah, an extensive structure covering a large area and enclosing numerous courts. The floors of this temple are found 25 feet below the surface of the ground. The lower walls, and sometimes doorways and parts of columns, are found standing.

Tut's Father-in-Law.

One of the interesting discoveries made at this place is the head of a life-size statue of Akhnaton, the father-in-law of Tut-Ankh-Amen. The features are exquisitely modeled and the sensitive face is rendered in a wonderfully lifelike manner.

The throne room of the Merenptah palace, especially the dais shows rich sculpture and elaborate use of color. The ornaments and hieroglyphic inscriptions on the columns, and the stonework surrounding the doorways, are inlaid with beautiful pale faience. Surrounding the throne room are dressing rooms, retiring rooms, and a bathroom, which originally had running water.

Excavation here is still in progress, and its completion is expected to throw much light on the domestic and official life of the Pharaohs.

Memphis was the capital of Egypt from the earliest times down to about 2,000 B. C. Then the Pharaohs moved their capital south to Thebes, which arose to great splendor. Herodotus referred to the hundred gates of Thebes. This city remained the capital until Alexander the Great founded the new capital at Alexandria, except for that brief interval when Akhnaton built this new capital at Tell-el-Amarna in order that he might start everything in Egypt afresh; religion, art, architecture and government. His interesting experiment lasted for about a generation, or until Tut-Ankh-Amen restored the old religion, reversed the policy of father-in-law, changed his name from Tut-Ankh-Aton to Tut-Ankh-Amen as a symbol of his reversion, and went back to Thebes as the seat of his government.

Merenptah, who is regarded by most authorities as the Pharaoh of the Exodus, reigned 1225 B. C., or about 125 years before Tut-Ankh-Amen.

Pass Life-Saving Tests at Phillips Academy

The life saving tests at Phillips Academy under Captain R. B. Miller of the Red Cross have progressed rapidly during the past week. The final tests for the members of the swimming squad, who will aid in instructing the rest of those intending to take lessons, were held. Only three days were given these men to learn the tests and become instructors, so that very hard and concentrated work was necessary. The following thirteen men passed and are now eligible to be instructors: Wingate, Foster, Seward, Bryant, McCarthy, Sanborn, Shipman, Buttrick, Danforth, Braden, Asher, Harris, and O'Connell.

An instructor is in charge of every four fellows, so that everyone gets a good deal of individual coaching. Thursday and Friday were spent in practicing some of the more fundamental tests, such as the tired swimmer's carry, hair carry, treading water, retrieving three objects, and the cross-chest carry. The pupils are responding to the coaching even more readily than was hoped, and are rapidly passing their tests.

There are now three classes with fifteen to twenty men in every class, which makes the sum of about fifty-five out for instruction. The work will be continued until the end of next week, at which time all those now in the classes will have had ample opportunity to pass the tests.

In addition to those tests already mentioned, several other important ones have to be passed before a pupil can receive his insignia. A candidate must be able to completely disrobe in deep water and swim a hundred yards. He must know the tired swimmer's carry, which is used to carry the victim a long distance, provided he does not struggle too much, as well as learn the head carry, cross chest carry, and hair carry. The tests include a surface dive, recovering three objects and also a ten-pound weight, which enables one to rescue victims who have already sunk to the bottom. Approaches from the front, back, and under-water with the proper turn and carry must be performed correctly, and one must be able to break a back and a front strangle hold 4 times in 2 different positions, as well as a double grip on one wrist and a front embrace. Other tests are the one-minute carry (subject fully dressed), freeman's lift or saddle back carry from shallow water, and lift from tank unassisted. In addition to these water tests, a life saver has to demonstrate the prone pressure resuscitation, write a theme on the same, and undergo an oral quiz on life saving.

On Sunday evening Miss Annie Beecher Scoville gave a very interesting talk on the Beecher family, and their pioneer work in Ohio. She told several amusing stories of her uncle, Henry Ward Beecher, and of her aunt, Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Miss Marie Nichols of the music department, assisted by Harrison Potter of Boston, gave an unusually fine violin recital, on Tuesday evening in Davis hall, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who heard it.

New Trustees for Phillips Academy

At a regular quarterly meeting of the board of trustees of Phillips academy, two new members were elected to fill the places left vacant by the resignation of Joseph Parsons '90, and by the death of Frederick G. Crane '84. One of the new members is Thomas Cochran '90, of New York city, a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., and for many years a generous benefactor of the academy. The other is James B. Neale of Minersville, Pa., who has long been active in connection with the work of the Phillips Academy Alumni fund. These two men will take their seats on the board at the next meeting, in June, 1923.

At the quarterly luncheon of the agents of the Phillips Academy Alumni fund, it was reported by the secretary that up to date the sum of $3780.15 had been received from 565 subscribers. The goal to be achieved this year by the Alumni fund is $20,000, and it is hoped that this sum will be secured by Commencement.

Donald McMillan, the well-known Arctic explorer, will speak before the students on the evening of Saturday, May 5, in the Borden gymnasium.

Ford Sales Show Big Increase

"More people want Ford cars than ever before," A. A. Roesch, local Ford dealer, said today.

"Fifty thousand more Fords were sold at retail in March than in any one month in the history of the Ford Motor Company, according to word from Detroit. The March sales totaled 179,764 cars and trucks.

"For a whole year sales have been running over 100,000 a month, bringing a total of 1,429,979 Ford cars and trucks into use in the United States alone since April 1, 1922.

"Here in the Cambridge Branch territory, of which this town is a part, the March sales were 8,473, a big increase over last year for the same month. The demand for the Ford is just as great proportionately right here at home as it is anywhere else in the country.

"The Company is now operating on the greatest manufacturing schedule in its history, so there are more Ford cars being built than ever before and improvements in all the different types make the Ford the best ever has been.

"And Ford cars are now easier to obtain than ever before because of the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan which makes it possible for more families to have a car. Father, mother, sons, and daughters all can participate in the Plan and it is rather surprising the number of families who are taking advantage of it so as to enjoy the pleasures that come with automobile ownership."

Unifying the College Curriculum

President Alexander Meiklejohn of Amherst, in speaking on "Unifying the College Curriculum," at the ladies' night of the Phillips club, set a high ideal for those who are educating the youth of the country.

He believes that schools have an important part to play in the life of a democracy, characterizing a democracy not as something to be described in terms of political machinery or relationship, but as a group of persons, all of whom may have a chance to obtain an education according to their several capacities, which would prepare them to get the most out of life, and enable them to put into it what they ought to.

As an ideal community is one in which its people are engaged in the same enterprise, so an ideal college community is one in which the students are engaged in the same intellectual work. For that reason he spoke of the elective system in the past tense, and advocated a college course in which all the students pursue practically the same course for the first two years, giving them more latitude when they have proven their ability to do intellectual work on their own initiative.

The speaker likened the subjects studied to pieces of a picture puzzle, which the mind could assemble to form a picture, the notes of music which could be formed into a melody, or words which could be formed into a sentence.

President Meiklejohn deplored the fact that college graduates were not readers and admitted that many of them were "uneducated." Part of this difficulty he laid to the instructors and the lecture system in which the teacher presented his own ideas and the result of his own reasoning on a subject, rather than presenting the ideas of the great minds of all ages inspiring the student to do his own studying, and thinking.

He defined education as "gathering up the scattered material of human experience, and making it significant." The radically new methods of thinking offer the finest opportunity which has ever come to the human spirit for an understanding of life.

President Meiklejohn hoped to invite discussion and argument by his remarks but his hearers for the most part agreed with him, except perhaps on the subject of the elective system.

When questioned about the public school system, he said that it was one of the most important instruments in the making of a democracy, but that in its present stage of development should be considered only in its beginning. In commenting on Mr. Pritchard's remarks about the present cost of the public school system, he said that he prophesied not a reduction in cost but rather that the present figures would be multiplied by ten. He qualified this statement however, by saying that the supply of money for public school education was more adequate than the will to administer it, and that the amount spent would probably better not be increased until we know how to spend it wisely.

Unusual Opportunity Offered
P. A. Students

Through the personal interest of the President of Inland Steel Corporation, whose son is a member of the present student body of Phillips academy, and the Vice President of the Corporation, an old Andover boy, a very unique opportunity has been extended to a limited number of students to spend the coming summer in a most profitable way. The officers of the Inland Steel Company, whose works are located at Indiana Harbor, a short distance out of Chicago, offer to provide accommodations in a special house or houses, set aside for the purpose, to ten or a dozen Andover boys. Board will also be supplied by the Company. Travel expenses will be met as well, and wages paid will permit those who join the group to lay by a reasonable amount of cash profit on the summer's work.

The group is to be selected by the principal on the basis of the occupations which those chosen expect to pursue in later years. Boys picked must give assurance that they are planning to pursue, after leaving Andover, scientific courses in the leading universities or technical schools. So far as possible, the summer work with the Steel Corporation will be based on the work which the individual plans to follow in his later studies. Upper classmen will be given precedence and the general record which the individual has made in school and the promise he gives of profiting most by the opportunity offered for a practical summer work, will be carefully considered.

Altogether the offer of the Inland Steel Company is one which a boy who is planning to pursue scientific work later will find distinctly alluring. Two months of active work in a big steel plant should make it possible for such boys to take up the individual courses in their scientific schools later with new zeal and a keener appreciation of the practical bearing of these studies on their later work. It is the hope and belief of the officers of the Inland Steel Company that those who accept their invitation will immensely increase the value of their university and scientific school courses. It is also hoped that some of the most promising of the group may later prove worthy candidates for definite positions in the Company itself.

The time approaches when the first spray of the season will be applied to the apple trees (the delayed dormant spray). This is followed some weeks later by the pre-pink spray. About ten days from this date the first summer spray or pink spray is applied, called pink spray from the fact that it is applied when the flower buds are pink and before they are open. This is followed by the second summer spray which is applied just after the petals fall and before the calyx closes.

It is the spraying of trees for the first (the pink spray) and the second summer sprays which are so fatal to bees. They are attracted by the apple bloom to the trees and drinking of the liquid arsenate of lead are poisoned and die. Arsenate of lead (sometimes called sugar of lead) is sweetish and in itself attracts the bees so that there is also danger in the spraying of shade trees of exterminating bees.

There is positive proof that whole apiaries of bees were destroyed during the season of 1922, by arsenate of lead spraying of both fruit and shade trees. This meant not only a serious financial loss to the beekeeper but also a heavy loss to the fruit grower in poor setting of fruit due to insufficient bees to insure perfect pollination.

How can this be remedied? It is necessary to spray to insure our trees against insect injury and disease. An effective solution is this. Put a pint of "Mikol" or some other carbolic acid solution in each 50 gallons of spray material. This is disagreeable to the bees, acts as a repellent and keeps them away from the trees until the spray is dry and saves the bees from poisoning.

If the apple trees could be sprayed at the proper time, before the petals open and after the petals fall and before the calyx closes, the danger of poisoning bees would be reduced. Due to the fact that different varieties of apples flower at different times and that even the trees of the same variety may not all flower at exactly the same time, when the pink spray is applied the petals of some trees are open and the bees working them and are poisoned.

Let us then be on the safe side and put a pint of "Mikol" in every 50 gallons of spray material. Ask your tree warden to do the same when he sprays the shade trees in your town.

SHAWSHEEN WINS AT LYNN

Second Contest in Industrial League Series Results in 2 to 1 Victory For Local Team

The Shawshien soccer team went to Lynn last Saturday in the Garage Bus, and after an exciting contest came off winner by the score of 2 to 1. It was their second contest in the Industrial league series.

It was a well deserved victory and one which will do much toward stimulating the team to further efforts and perfection of their game. Without a doubt Shawshien is a very much stronger team than has ever represented the village and much may be expected of them during this season.

It was another case of a game where goals were the deciding factor, and strange to say, it was the Electric that made it possible for the Shawshien's goals to count. Forsythe diverting Mitchell's hard drive into the net on a bungle in trying to gather the ball, while Watson was responsible for turning the second one to account on a miskick that glanced off his boot into the rigging.

The first half was hotly contested for a time and after 15 minutes of play Mitchell, the Electric right outside, gave his team the lead when he beat Duke with a good shot. This was all the scoring that was done before the interval and the teams turned around with General Electric leading by one goal to nothing.

The second half found the teams battling strongly in the opening stages but it could be seen that the Electric were the cleverer side with the Shawshien defense having their work cut out in defending their lines. Duke having to clear on numerous occasions but was found equal to the occasion. Nelson again was a big factor on the Shawshien team at centre half. It would seem that this player has found his right position and will take some displacing.

Gair was given a trial at right half and did admirably well, Smith the Shawshien inside left, formerly of the General Electric, gave a great display against his old comrades and was the outstanding forward on the Shawshien front line. He was well supported by Noble on the right flank with some good crossing of the ball.

Gilbert McKay and Smith had a regular battle royal during the game, but the Electric centre half found the Shawshien boy in good form and often came out on the losing end of the numerous tilts. Forsythe in goal, with the exception of one bungle that cost him a goal played a good game. Mills was the best of the two backs. Walton and McNiece were the pick of the halfbacks. The forwards showed good combination with Mitchell and Reid clever.

Great Demand For Fordson Tractors in Two Big Fields

Both agriculture and industry are making increasing demands for the Fordson Tractor. While the use of the Fordson as a farm implement is extending in every agricultural section of the country as farmers come to realize the advantages and economy of power farming, a most noticeable feature of the sales is the growing use of this sturdy and dependable power plant in industrial and commercial activities.

Contractors and builders are everywhere adapting the Fordson to meet their needs for power, either movable or stationary, and road engineers throughout the country are specifying its use with highway construction machinery.

To meet this growing demand for Fordson Tractors production is now at capacity and for the first three months of the year reached a total of 27,087, as compared with 8,340 for the same period a year ago.

Unconquered California Valley.

The discoveries of new territory are comparatively few in the United States, owing to the great activity of the geological survey, as well as explorers and mountain climbers. There seems, however, to be an unconquered valley in Siskiyou county, California. Hidden valley. G. W. Pellepreau, the discoverer of the valley, said he had glimpsed it from a mountain peak with the aid of high-powered binoculars. From all reports he believed the valley had never been entered. Some men believe it abounds in game and that mineral deposits are likely to be found. Walls of sharp peaks surround the valley, standing like a barricade against man's advance.

Once over the walls, Pellepreau predicts, scaling ropes and ladders will be necessary to get beyond the chasms. He estimates the valley contains 300 acres.—Scientific American.

New Guinea Rich Country.

Fortunes in cocoa could be made in New Guinea, says Brigadier General Wisdom, who states that the soil and climate of the country are well suited for growing profitable vegetation. Rice is imported into New Guinea, though rice could be grown there in abundance. Another opportunity lay in the distillation of commercial alcohol. The nepa plant, containing 25 per cent alcohol, grew all over New Guinea. General Wisdom said the country teemed with opportunities for men of enterprise and with a small amount of capital. Labor was cheap, natives being paid about $1.25 per week, and the center of the island could be cleared of the dense mangrove swamps. There were two navigable rivers, one 400 and the other 200 miles long, and if men with tropical experience could be got, the country would develop into one of the brightest British possessions.

COMBINES PROFIT AND SPORT

Maine Man Has Found Hedgehog Hunting Has Two Sides to It, Both Good.

A man in Maine has found hedgehog hunting to be a profitable business, as well as one that has an element of danger, and therefore offers excitement in excess of that which comes to a rabbit or fox hunter, writes Sam E. Conner, in Popular Mechanics Magazine. While it is not generally known, there is a steady demand for these ugly-looking creatures from all sections of America and Europe. They are desired for zoos and menageries, both private and public, and country fair and street vendors, who use them to aid in selling preparations, disposed of under the name of hedgehog oil, hedgehog liniment, and like titles.

The trapping is all done in the summer and at night. There is no better hunting ground than an apple orchard. The outfit consists of a long pole to dislodge the hedgehog from the apple tree, and an old washbowl.

Elusive Street Sounds.

It was in Rue Montmartre I heard it, and the sound of it could not have surprised me more had it been the note of the nightingale or the song of the lark. It was at the busiest part of the day I heard it, in the gloom of the late winter afternoon when the lights in the shop windows are lit and the street lamps begin to twinkle in the evening mist.

In the narrow thoroughfare the motor omnibuses were throbbing, thundering in the early throes of the city's homeward rush, taxicabs were bustling, buzzing in an almost ceaseless stream, motor horns were sounding in discordant chorus, heavy drays were rumbling, clanking, with the clip-clop of the hoofs of heavy horses, raucous voices were shouting the evening papers. The pavement was a torrent of human kind, two torrents, in fact that battled in opposite directions, and the human units had to struggle to keep their course on the narrow footway. It was then I heard it, amid the jostling and the tumult, above the din of the motor omnibuses, taxicabs and heavy drays, in this, the paroxysmal climax of the city's busy day—the sound of a long-drawn lovers' kiss.—G. H. in Continental Edition of London Mail.

Should Grow Timber.

The national lumber shipment in 1920 was about 2,070,000 carloads, and the average haul for each carload 485 miles. According to the best estimate of the forest service, United States Department of Agriculture, the freight bill on lumber for that year was $25,000,000. A fraction of this sum, says the forest service, wisely invested each year in forest protection and rehabilitation would grow timber where it is needed, reduce the nation's freight bill, cheapen lumber, and release vast amounts of railroad equipment and labor for unavoidable transport. Coal and iron cannot be grown, but timber can be.

IS THERE WARMTH IN SMOKE?

Matter Over Which There Seems to Be Possibility for Considerable Difference of Opinion.

It sounds rather unreasonable and, anyway, we would rather be colder and see the sunshine. We refer to the fancied discovery by a suburban New Yorker that coal smoke makes the city warmer. He writes: "Several towns on the south side of Long Island have noticed a greater discrepancy in the weather this winter than ever before. Instead of varying three or four or five degrees from the New York city temperature, it is noted that there is a variation of ten or fifteen degrees. That is, it is warmer in New York by that much. Is it possible that the use of soft coal, with smoke hanging like a blanket over the city, has a tendency to make it less cold?"

It would take a long and precise series of experiments to prove this; and there would still be the possibility that the higher temperature might be due to other causes. We know that the city is hotter in the summer than the country, but that is due to the reflection from the pavements and superheated walls of buildings.

If the "smoke pall" keeps out the greater atmospheric frostiness, it would possibly be explained on the same lines that a smoke smudge protects peach and orange orchards from northern blasts in early spring.

Cities live under a more or less perpetual smudge. The "smudge pots" are always going; but if we could have our pure air from heaven strained of smoke and the sun-rays falling upon us instead of the smog, we should cheerfully accept zero instead of ten degrees above.

Plant Pine and Spruce.

Pittsfield will plant 75,000 trees this year, mainly spruce. In the campaign for forest conservation started by foresters of New England at a meeting in Boston this winter. Other community forest plantings will be made in various parts of the state.

In general the trees to be set out in the western counties are spruce. In the eastern counties the plantings will be of white pine. As a means of combating the serious ravages of white pine blister rust, the state is offering the Immune Scotch pines to be mingled in the new forest areas.

Fighting Mexican Bean Beetle.

A promising parasite has been found for the control of the Mexican bean beetle, which is rapidly spreading in the southern states. This parasite preys upon at least two species of the genus to which the bean beetle belongs. Also there has been found in Mexico two varieties of beans which show promise of resistance to the injurious attack of the bean beetle. One is a native white bean and the other a wild brown bean, the latter growing very abundantly along a stream in southern Mexico.

Valuable Anesthetic.

Butyn, a new drug, is a substitute for cocaine in dental and eye work and, also in minor surgery. It is a synthetic product and it is said the anesthesia produced is more profound and prolonged than that produced by cocaine. It is not a derivative of cocaine and has no attractions for the drug taker.

PLANS SEASON'S PROGRAM

Bowling Green Club Will Have Many New Members to Take Part in Inter-Club Games

The Shawshien Village Bowling Green Club met in the Boy's Club house last Tuesday evening, and discussed plans for the coming season, with President Robert Williams presiding.

George MacKenzie was elected Treasurer to take the place of William Gordon, who found it necessary to resign on account of similar duties in another organization.

Membership cards are being printed for use this year. About twenty names were submitted as prospective members and the old members are to canvass for new names before the bowling season starts. All who are interested in this game and desire to join should give their names to any member they know.

Plans are being made for inter-club games with the various clubs in the New England league. Many of these clubs are anxious to play at Shawshien this season as the local club was a very close second last fall in the finals for the New England championship. It will also give them a chance to visit this model community.

This year both the National championship and New England league championship games are to be played during the same week at Hartford, Conn., and the Shawshien club is planning to send strong entries for both of these events.

Further details of the club's activities will be discussed by the Green's committee, which meets next Thursday evening.

Entertained at Luncheon

Mrs. Donald Carter, President of the Shawshien Village Women's club, entertained the Board of Directors of the Club at luncheon on Wednesday last. After luncheon the Board held its regular monthly business meeting which was the last meeting of the Board for the season.

Boy Scouts Meet

A meeting of the Shawshien Village Boy Scouts was held last Friday evening at the Boy's club house on Haverhill street, under the direction of Norman Allen, Scout Master. Several boys have made application for membership, many applying who live in the centre of the town. Plans are being made for the re-organization of the troop which may be divided into smaller groups. The members held a short drill on the lawn adjoining the club house. There will be a regular meeting to-night when it is expected more boys will apply for membership. The meetings are held every Friday and on the second Monday of each month.

Governor Signs Andover Schoolhouse Bill

A copy of the Andover schoolhouse bill, and the quill pen with which Governor Cox signed the bill was presented by Representative Charles E. Abbot to the School committee at a special meeting held on Tuesday evening. Roy E. Bradford accepted the gift in behalf of the school committee, and it is probable that the document and pen will be suitably framed and hung on the new schoolhouse in Shawshien Village.

The committee considered articles for insertion in the warrant for the special town meeting for the acceptance of the Andover schoolhouse bill, and the building of a new schoolhouse in Shawshien Village. The articles will be considered by the town counsel and selectmen and a special town meeting will be called immediately following the acceptance of the articles. The school will be built under the direction of the school committee.
